Who should attend

Public & private sector executives and managers, fraud control and corruption prevention practitioners, HR specialists, investigative journalists, ethicists, concerned citizens, internal auditors, risk management specialists, investigators, lawyers, accountants and other professionals.

Gifts, Kickbacks, Bribes, Flow-ons,
Freebies, 'Cashies' ...

It's still Backscratchin' Corruption
- no matter what the name!

And it still costs organisations and individuals
Big Time!

Camaraderie and rapport - where does white merge into grey and then melt into black ... leaving scars and traces [and very red faces]?

When do sinister overtones muscle in on simple naivety?

This timely and important conference addresses the most basic corruption issue that is too often taken for granted and is a timely reminder about the true value of due diligence

Speakers	Presenting
Guy Underwood Director, Hibis Corporation Pty Limited	How Well Do You Know Your Mates? Due diligence is essential in appointing contractors and new staff. Probity in recruitment processes is not a choice, but rather a necessity.
Clive Small Executive Director, Strategic Operations Groups, Independent Commission Against Corruption	Corruption is a Problem The emergence of corruption is an acknowledged problem in the public sector. Case studies will provide a contextual setting as to the scope and seriousness of the problem, culminating in options available in the pursuit of 'integrity'.
Ian Schubert Salary Cap Auditor, National Rugby League	Getting An Edge The great difficulty sports administrators face is providing a fair and equitable competition. Ensuring the business arrangements surrounding the sport are fair and equitable can be a more difficult task.
Bob Falconer Chairman STOPline Pty Ltd	Listening to the Whistlers Accepting the importance and difficulties of utilising internal whistleblowers in tackling organisational corruption and misconduct.
Greg Melick S.C. Barrister Coaching House Chambers, Hobart &amp; Maurice Byers Chambers, Sydney	What are your Chances Tomorrow? How seemingly innocent and friendly approaches to sportsmen/women can lead to more sinister entanglements.
Barry Munns Director, Risk Assurance &amp; Internal Audit, University of Technology, Sydney Kath Roach Internal Ombudsman, Sutherland Shire Council Stephen Horne Assistant Auditor-General Audit Office of New South Wales	The Price is Right: Doing Business in the State of Integrity Public expectation on expenditure and cost effectiveness in local councils and universities are significant, yet so often we hear "you can get anything for the right price". Contract 'flow ons'; 'cashies' and a lack of due diligence can cost organisations, in these sectors, significantly.

Providing opportunities for those involved in corruption prevention and fraud control to learn from each other

What is the Corruption Prevention Network (CPN)?

"Help each other" is the catchcry of the CPN - administered by a group of elected voluntary public officials practising fraud control and corruption prevention. The Audit Office of NSW, NSW Independent Commission Against Corruption, NSW Ombudsman and the NSW Police provide support.

The CPN seeks to broaden its contact base and welcomes participation in the CPN e-mail Forum by anybody in Australia and internationally, both from the private and public sector, who is interested in fraud control and corruption prevention. The CPN mission is primarily achieved by:

- conducting public forums
- operating an e-mail forum
- publishing newsletters
- maintaining www.corruptionprevention.net
- establishing strategic links with organisations having interests aligned with the CPN mission
